REWARD OPERATION REGULATIONS

Reward operation purpose

These regulations govern the promotional activities and reward operation connected to the products and services marketed by the promoter. Promotional activities shall mean all the temporal or continuous facilities granted and reserved for the promoter's customers participating in the reward operation and communicated by the promoter. Reward operation shall mean the points collection reserved for the promoter's customers who wish to participate in it.

Reward operation duration

START DATE: 1/11/2023

END DATE: 30/11/2024

Recipients

All end-customers who purchase the promoter's products/services (excluding all products for which the law prohibits incentive operations and in any case items such as telephone top-ups, newspapers, magazines, etc.) And who adhere to the initiative by means of a form prepared and signed in which the conditions relating to privacy are also indicated. Employees of the promoter and their family members are excluded from the promotion. Customers with a vat number and/or who purchase products/services from the promoter as part of their professional activity are also excluded.

Territorial area

Valid throughout the national territory of the republic of italy, at the direct points of sale of the promoter or of the companies affiliated to the promoter provided that they are authorized and equipped with the computer system for this purpose.

Products and services promoted

The points collection operation covers all products and services within the promoter's point of sale and its affiliates, excluding those which are prohibited by law from being subject to reward operations.

A loyalty card, which is the property of the promoter and which will remain so even after the end of the operation or even if the customer no longer wishes to continue participation, will be used to identify the customer and upload the points to which he/she is entitled.

The loyalty card can be requested by the customer at any time through the channels made available by the promoter and is only issued after completion of the appropriate form. The loyalty card holder is entitled to the discounts in the shop.

Only the cardholder's personal spending entitles him/her to points. Participants accept that the loyalty program may be changed, in whole or in part, at any time. The updated general terms and conditions will always be available by requesting information at the promoter's point of sale.

How to participate

To participate, you must fill in the entry form available at the promoter's point of sale and sign it. The promoter must be promptly notified of any change of address, name, or any other information that may be required. The cardholder confirms the accuracy of the data provided and is solely responsible for any incorrect, incomplete or outdated information.

Card (or similar tool) duration and validity

Failure to load points for 12 consecutive months entitles the company to cancel the accumulated points at any time. Points accumulated during this reward operation and not used to claim rewards (by the deadline of the operation itself) cannot be used for any subsequent initiatives.

Points collection

The promoter defines a basic allocation of points collection with the following ratio and method as indicated below

Number of points	For an expenditure of euros or multiples thereof
1	1

In order to incentivize the purchase of its products and services during the promotion period, the promoter has the right to monitor the progress of the program and to create - when it deems it appropriate - further incentive initiatives by means of additional and improved “bonus” points in the interest of the customer, aimed at rewarding spending frequencies, the spread of the program, promotional periods.
